Police teams swoop in dawn drugs busts

TABLE OF EVIDENCE:
Detective Inspector Mark Barber with bags containing the drugs seized during Tuesday's raids in Harlow

TWENTY suspected drug dealers were arrested by police during a series of dawn raids in Harlow on Tuesday.

Officers with search warrants issued under the Misuse of Drugs Act targeted 31 properties around the town.

The crackdown, called Operation Hornet, began shortly after 6am. Raids were carried out in various parts of the town including Milwards, Sewell Harris Close, Hare Street Springs and Parsonage Leys.

By the time the raids had finished police had arrested 17 men and three women.

The action was the culmination of months of intelligence work during

which they had been collating information given to neighbourhood policing officers.

Police are also working with partner organisations in the Safer Harlow Partnership - including Harlow Council, Essex County Council, Essex Fire and Rescue Service, Victim Support and the probation service - to reduce crime, disorder and the misuse of drugs.

Detective Chief Inspector Paul Maleary said "This operation is the direct result of reported Class A drug dealing and associated violence which has taken place during the past few months.

"We, along with the local community safety partnership, are committed to reducing all crime and the arrest phase of the operation is just the first of many initiatives that we will be taking over the coming months to dissolve drug dealing in and around Harlow."

Chief Superintendent Sean O'Callaghan, commander for West Essex, said: "The fight against class A drug use in Harlow and the surrounding areas, as well as crimes such as thefts from sheds, car thefts and burglary - which are all associated with class A drugs, is one we continue to fight.

"It is not the first operation of its kind in the town. It is a tactic we use when suitable and as a result it has had a hard impact on the criminality of the town."

He added: "We are bringing justice to as many people as possible. If people have not been arrested on Tuesday we will continue to pursue them."

As the Star went to press 19 of the 20 people arrested in the raids had been detained in custody to appear at Chelmsford Crown Court.

Man, 25, charged with assault after restaurant attack

POLICE investigating an assault outside a Chinese restaurant in December have charged a Harlow man with causing grievous bodily harm.

The 28-year-old victim of the attack, which took place outside the Joy Fook eatery in Kelvedon Hatch near Brentwood, suffered a fractured jaw and underwent surgery to have a plate inserted.

At the time Detective Constable Stephen Baker said: "The victim is still not able to eat solids and has lost an incredible amount of weight because he cannot eat properly."

"He has to have a further eight teeth removed and fake ones screwed in and has been told that he will suffer discomfort for the rest of his life and possibly suffer from arthritis in his jaw when he is older."

On Tuesday police announced Steven Cywinski, 25, from Kingsland, Harlow, had been charged with inflicting grievous bodily harm without intent.

He has been released on bail to appear at Basildon Magistrates Court on March 20.

Celebration of Women's Day

LABOUR'S Parliamentary hopeful for Harlow Suzy Stride will be hosting an event to mark International Women's Day on Saturday.

She will be joined by Labour MP and women's rights activist Fiona Mactaggart at the event to celebrate the social, political and economic achievements of women.

There will be speeches as well as tea, coffee and cakes.

The free event, which is open to everyone, will be held on the ground floor of Wych Elm House in Hamstel Road from 5-7pm.

Waiting list to use popular new community hub

HUB OF ACTIVITY: Community support worker Tracy Fisk with customer Ian in the My Place Cafe

A NEW community hub for adults with learning disabilities has opened in Harlow.

The Hub@Harlow, formerly the Pyenest Wellbeing & Activity Centre in Pyenest Road, opened at the end of January but already has a waiting list of people wanting to use it services.

The centre is run by disability and homecare services provider Essex Cares, offering fully integrated health and social care including a cafe which provides work-based training to people who want to progress to either voluntary or paid employment.

Operations manager Susan Marriott said: "It's so exciting to have the hub finally open after the refit."

"We haven't needed to expand the site at all. Instead we have made better use of the space we already have to accommodate all these new services."

"This really is a community hub. It will help many vulnerable people from young adults upwards by offering integrated health and social care and it can cater for 40 people per day."

To find out more about the Hub@Harlow, call (0300) 0031624 or visit www.essexcares.org.

Parents' fury over school allocations

FURIOUS parents whose children were denied places at their chosen secondary schools have been invited to discuss their concerns.

Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, was due to hold a meeting last night (Wednesday) to help parents through the appeal process and offer advice.

The school currently has a waiting list of 136 despite having offered more places this year to help accommodate parental demand for places.

Headteacher Helena Mills said: "As a mother of three I know how stressful a time this is. My advice is that parents should remember how important a role they play in their child's education and also how much secondary education has improved in the town."

Sonia Harris' son Haydn, 10 - a pupil at Little Parndon Primary - missed out on a place at the academy and was instead offered St Mark's Catholic School.

Ms Rozee said: "We're C of E and not Catholic so I didn't even think he could go there."

area all of my life and have had one child go through secondary school already, my son is due to go this year and currently has no siblings at the school. His father and all our siblings went to this school and as his current school Little Parndon is suppose to be a feeder school, it wasn't going to be a problem."

Parent Lisa Rozee, of Cannons Gate, slammed the process after her son Jack, 10, missed out on both his first choice, Burnt Mill, and his second choice, Stewards Academy.

Cook Spinney Primary pupil Jack was the only child in his class not to secure a place at Burnt Mill.

Ms Rozee said: "He's devastated. I think it's absolutely disgusting."

Jack, who has two younger siblings, has also been offered a place at St Mark's.

Ms Rozee said: "We're C of E and not Catholic so I didn't even think he could go there."

Essex County Council say more than 93 per cent of schoolchildren in the county have been allocated a place at either their first or second choice secondary school.

They say 85.27 per cent of parents have been offered their first preference with 7.78 per cent getting their second preference, meaning that 93.05 per cent of pupils have been offered their first or second preference.

Cllr Ray Gooding, cabinet member for education and lifelong learning at education authority Essex County Council, said: "It is promising to see that 93.05 per cent of parents have been offered their first or second preference."

"We have some fantastic secondary schools in Essex and we will continue to work closely with them to strive to provide young people with a world class education system."

"I would like to wish all pupils and parents every success in their new chapter of learning."

Essex County Council received a total of 14,451 applications for secondary school places with 13,105 applying online.

Lights switch-off another nail in the coffin for quality of life

SIR, Well what a shock as I took off for work at 4.45am on Monday in a dark new world. I fumbled around in the unlit street trying to find the lock on my car door and then drive to the junction at the top of my road worried in case a bike or pedestrian appeared from nowhere in the dark.

I drive on with full beam headlights to illuminate the view a little and spot dog walkers with torches lit so they can see where they are going. I drive past a few pubs in the dark thinking to myself that I would not want to come out of one of them at midnight and walk home in the future.

What has it come to when a rich country like ours can not afford to keep the street lights on? The statisticians tell us that crime will not increase and that road accidents will not get worse. Believe that and you will believe anything.

The council tax goes up in April and I feel like I am being taken for a very big ride - and dark one at that.

Another nail in the coffin for our quality of life.

Michael Boyle
Willowfield, Harlow

Something must be done soon or town will cease to function

SIR, As a resident of nearly 40 years I can honestly say that if something is not done soon about the traffic flow around Harlow it will cease to function as a town.

It often takes 30 minutes to leave the town via the M11 roundabout and 30 minutes to get in to the town. Everyone knows that an additional motorway junction was a requirement over 10 years ago but nothing was done.

The A414 needs to be dual carriageway all the way along. The current roadworks towards Fifth Avenue will not deal with the issue; Fifth Avenue needs to be a dual carriageway to Eastwick Road with a dedicated lane leading to the A414.

Within the town the traffic lights at the Leisurezone cause a huge backlog on Velizy Avenue and Second Avenue. This was an obvious consequence but was given the go ahead regardless. The same is true along Edinburgh Way where the two business parks are not linked together via a private road and all traffic has to use Edinburgh Way and the traffic lights that cause endless traffic jams.

Many of the traffic problems in Harlow are self-made, eg giving over too much road to bus lanes and removing entry lanes on to roundabouts. The town is choking and those responsible are not unblocking it.

Paul Taylor
The Readings, Harlow

A park-and-ride scheme may help to ease traffic problems

SIR, This last week has seen the congestion in the town reach virtual gridlock, possibly the worst in 20 years.

It simply emphasises the fragility of the system which all too frequently and easily locks up.

It is a judgement on the competence of our road planners: clearly they have failed and the ill-thought-through proposals for a new M11 junction 7a just makes one wonder why they are not employing up-to-date computer visual modelling technology to analyse, predict and

READER Darren Peery, from Church Langley, took this week's photo of the week. "This is the local fishing lake near us," he writes. "Thankfully the rain and wind stopped for five minutes in order for me to take this picture. It's a very peaceful setting."

If you have a photo taken in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

show the efficiency of the various options?

Since writing last about the cost of a southern bypass, it has been pointed out to me that there would be a considerable saving because a new junction would not be required, simply an additional exit on the eastern side of the Hastingwood roundabout at junction 7.

In the meantime, might considerable relief be gained by putting in a park-and-ride scheme to and from the motorway to the town centre? It seems to work in Cambridge.

Services too important to rely on whims of the private sector

SIR, Joel Charles, the deputy chairman of Harlow Conservatives paints a glowing picture of thriving community services under the former Tory administration, all run by private companies and volunteers (Letters, February 20).

He's right in that some services have been taken over admirably by voluntary and community organisations - Labour's partners.

However, if left to the Tories, The Playhouse would have had no funding. It could never be entirely viable without community support (it's either too small or too large). Labour has injected funding, seeking a way forward to ensure it remains a popular local facility.

Mr. Charles must have known that no private companies or volunteers would run paddling pools yet the Conservatives still refused funding. Labour decided they were too important to close, especially in a recession. The pools were enjoyed throughout the summer and we will support them again next year.

Labour is proud of the way Pets' Corner develops, albeit with reduced budgets, yet by now there would have been no budget at all. It goes from strength to strength with sterling support of staff, supporters and other committed volunteers - magnificent in hail, rain and snow.

The Town Park Lottery Grant includes ambitious proposals for growth, including horticulture and further student involvement. Brilliant! Tory plans would have ended before these took place.

Mr Charles fails to mention that the Government shifts resources from more deprived Labour authorities such as Harlow to richer Tory constituencies. Harlow has to cut about a million pounds every year.

Excessive austerity measures do untold damage to our most vulnerable residents. The Government brutally punishes the poor while sneering at 'scroungers' or 'skivers' - the uglier side of austerity.

Hatchets don't fall on bankers' bonuses, tax avoidance schemes or employers who pay even less than the minimum wage. No wonder church leaders are outraged at the huge increase in foodbanks in the seventh richest county in the world. Where's the justice?

Our services to the community are too important to rely solely on the whims of the private sector or even good will. We've saved jobs while in partnership with community volunteers.

I know whose side we are on. Do you, Mr Charles?

Cllr Jean Clark (Labour)
Civic Centre, Harlow

Number needing handouts of food is truly appalling

SIR, I was intrigued by a recent letter in the Star about our MP, Robert Halfon, visiting the haven in Abercrombie Way which helps the homeless and the hungry "without any entourage or members of the press" (Letters, February 6).

Whatever else you can accuse Mr Halfon of, being publicity shy is not one of them. Why then, I wondered, did he not see visiting the homeless and hungry as an ideal photo opportunity?

The answer is obvious - a photograph could find its way back to the Secretary of State of State for Works and Pensions with a consequent rap on the knuckles for showing undue compassion towards those who are the victims of the Government's ideological policies.

Foodbanks deeply embarrass the Coalition hierarchy; they are in denial about them and like to pretend they are not there.

So sensitive is the Government that according to an article in The Independent (February 21, 2014) it has been accused of suppressing the results of a report into food poverty in Britain for more than seven months. It was finally published amid suggestions it has been "slipped out" while the floods were dominating the news.

The author of the Government-commissioned report told The Independent that welfare reforms are forcing many more people to resort to emergency food handouts. In Harlow over 6,000 adults and 3,000 children have received emergency food rations. The numbers are truly appalling.

Mr Halfon has done some good work at both constituency and national levels and his visit to the haven for the homeless and hungry would seem to indicate that his conscience is at least pricked by their plight, contrary to the uncaring attitude of his party.

I would like to know if Mr Halfon has read the report and would invite him to tell the people of Harlow how he really feels about food poverty and the welfare reforms that have helped to bring this about.

Foodbanks need all the publicity they can get, so don't be shy Mr Halfon. Take all the photographers and journalists you need and I for one will be more than happy to join your entourage and cheer you on.

David Ives
Bishopfield, Harlow

Water company carried out swift repairs to storm drain

SIR, Last year I contacted Harlow Council to advise them a dangerous storm/flood drain. The same day I was contacted by somebody from the council to confirm the location.

The following day a red fence was erected around it but one year on nothing has been done. Thankfully, no child has fallen down the hole.

Today I reported it again and was told that it was not the council's responsibility. Instead I was given the number for Thames Water.

I contacted them and they took all the details and found the site on a computer. Several hours later somebody from Thames Water phoned me to say that he was by the broken drain and that it had to be fixed urgently.

Well done and thanks to Thames Water. It took Harlow Council one year to do nothing. It took Thames Water two hours for action to be taken.

MP sparks Twitter row over 'football hooligans' blast

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon was unrepentant after he became embroiled in a row on Twitter for branding some football supporters "scumbag hooligans" for littering in central London.

Mr Halfon took to the social media site to complain about a pile of rubbish strewn across Covent Garden where he had gone for dinner on Saturday. He also posted a photo of the debris, describing it as a "disgusting cesspit".

However, fellow Twitter users took offence at the "hooligans" tag. One responded: "Yes it was left a mess, yes they may have been raucous, but that does not mean they are hooligans".

Some also referred to the mess left behind after other public events such as the Queen's jubilee celebrations.

Chelsea fan Mr Halfon later tweeted he had "great respect" for genuine fans of all clubs and this week described the backlash as a "good old reality check".

However, he added: "My tweet was to do specifically with the state of the area I saw and walked on, which was much broken glass and huge amounts of dropped litter in the roads. Why is it wrong of me to point that out?"

"In no way was I, or did I, identify one club over another. In fact I was not sure who had actually done it other than it was people associated with football. I specifically did not attack fans from any club but was referring only to those who had left the broken glass.

"I also make clear the distinction between genuine fans, of which there are many and who have every right to enjoy themselves, and hooligans who throw and smash glass all over the road.

"That was the context of my tweet, which inevitably has been twisted or misunderstood as attacking a particular group of fans or particular club, which was far from the case."

Foodbank referrals up by 59% as more ask for 'crisis' help

ROBERT HELLARD

A FOODBANK which supports people in Harlow at times of crisis has helped 10,000 people since it was set up almost five years ago.

Since April 2009 the Harlow Foodbank has been providing emergency parcels to people who have been referred by the town's various registered care agencies.

Already this year it has distributed 33.2 tons of food to people living in the town and the surrounding areas.

According to the charity the main reasons for referrals are delays to benefits, low income, homelessness, debt, unemployment, domestic violence, sickness and delayed wages.

More than 60 per cent of referrals are due to some form of benefit change or delay.

With an average of 294 people being fed a month - 216 adults and 78 children - director of community services Gary Knott said the public support was vital as referrals had risen by 59 per cent compared to the same period last year.

"Harlow Foodbank has now been in operation for nearly five years and we continue to see an increase in referrals year-on-year," he said.

"As the service has grown and developed we have extended our partners and we now offer a service in the Bishop's Stortford area as well as adding fresh eggs and potatoes with our emergency food, thanks to our new partnerships with Greenway Eggs and High Trees Packers Ltd."

Foodbank volunteers collect tinned and dried food from the public at supermarkets, churches, schools and other local groups. This is then stored in a warehouse ready for distribution to individuals and families in need.

Mr Knott said: "The foodbank is a community project that relies on the local public to play a part to help those in need.

"We have also been greatly encouraged to partner with local allotments in Harlow who provide us with seasonal summer vegetables to complement our emergency food provision."

The charity is now hoping to raise some additional funding with the launch of a Foodbank 500 Club.

Residents can support its work by signing up to the club and giving £2 or more each month to keep the charity running, and enable staff and volunteers to plan the Foodbank's work thanks to a regular income.

that we have been able to run the Family Innovation Fund for the fourth time.

"The projects this fund supports help deliver change to the lives of families in need of a little extra help.

"I am aware of the good work delivered by previous Family Innovation Fund projects and am confident that this year's funding will deliver outcomes that will improve the lives of children and young people across the county."

Groups get a share of county council family funding

A NUMBER of groups in Harlow have been included in a list of 57 voluntary and community sector organisations to receive grants from Essex County Council's Family Innovation Fund.

The FIF enables organisations working with children, young people and parents and carers to establish a range of projects to support families.

All funding is targeted at projects which increase the skills and capacity within families to function more effectively.

Successful FIF applicants from Harlow include Accuro Harlow, Caring for Harlow Carers, HomeStart Harlow, and Place 2 Be.

Work within the FIF projects will complement existing services which work with families with a high level of need and, where possible, prevent the need for specialist or intensive interventions.

Essex county councillor Dick Madden, cabinet member for families and children, said: "I am delighted

Retired teacher 'slapped girl on bottom with slipper'

A RETIRED schoolteacher who slapped a girl on the bottom with a slipper during private tutoring sessions has denied his actions were sexually motivated.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told on Tuesday that Paul Wilson, 67 - who taught mathematics at two schools in Harlow during his career - claimed he only used the slipper as a "motivational tool" when the teenager made mistakes.

Wilson also denies touching the girl's breasts and knickers while giving her a whole body massage over her clothes to relieve stress.

The jury was told Wilson began teaching in St Albans. He went on to teach at former Netteswell Grammar in Harlow and then Epping Forest High School before moving to Stewards in Harlow where he worked for 20 years before retiring as head of department in 2004.

Miles Trigg prosecuting, said the girl's mother approached Wilson to tutor her daughter in modules leading up to her GCSEs. When he asked her about using a slipper as a "motivational tool" she refused.

But giving evidence via a video link, the girl said Wilson used the slipper from the first weekly session when she made mistakes, yawned or hesitated. He told her to stand up and would tap her backside.

Mr Trigg said the prosecution case was that it was sexually motivated and not an appropriate technique to use.

The jury was also told that the girl's

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

mother agreed to Wilson showing her daughter some back exercises to help with pain. In September 2012 he gave her a massage to help relieve stress.

It is alleged that while she lay on cushions on the living room floor at Wilson's home he cupped her breasts with both hands in a rotating manner and continued down on to her stomach. His fingers allegedly went under her jeans belt to the edge of her underwear.

The offences were investigated when the teenager told a friend in October 2012 and was advised to inform her mother. Police were called and Wilson was arrested in October 2012. He was charged in August 2013.

Giving evidence yesterday (Wednesday), Wilson told the jury the girl had "exaggerated" and "occasionally lied" during the trial. He said he and his wife had struggled for the past 18 months to understand why she said what she did.

"We cannot believe they just turned round and stabbed us in the back," he said. "Why she decided to make these allegations is a complete mystery."

Later he said: "I have taught thousands of boys and girls who were her age without the slightest suggestion of any wrongdoing. I would not have been allowed to teach for 40 years if there was the slightest suggestion of impropriety."

Wilson said the idea for using the slipper stemmed from 1969 - when corporal punishment was allowed - and was suggested by the father of twin girls he tutored.

"It was the family implement for punishing the girls by the parents," he said. "I was virtually ordered by the father that if either misbehaved I had their full permission to slipper them on the bottom."

He claimed he had the mother's permission to use the slipper and it was discussed in advance with both her and the girl.

He said he would move the slipper from the floor to the table when the teenager made mistakes. He said he could only remember using it to give "very, very light taps" high up on her backside four or five times.

Wilson said he had discussed with the girl and her mother his massage plan "to make absolutely clear this was a hands-on, full body massage".

He said his hands brushed against the top of her bra through her T-shirt and accepted his little finger may have just gone under the waistband of her jeans, but claimed the girl had lied about his hands going into her trousers.

Wilson, of St Leonard's Road, Nazeing, pleads not guilty to two sexual assaults between 2011 and 2012 and to sexual activity with a child between April 1, 2011 and August 2, 2012.

The trial continues.

Bingo players from Harlow join MP for tax cut protest

A CONTINGENT of bingo players from Harlow joined MP Robert Halfon to call on the Government to lower the tax duty on the game.

Nearly 200 people marched from the House of Commons to Downing Street in support of the national Boost Bingo campaign.

Speaking during the march, Mr Halfon said: "The people are making their voice heard. They want bingo to be taxed like any other game."

"Bingo clubs are family-friendly areas and integral part of our communities. They not only provide enjoyment for individuals and families but also create jobs."

Matthew Wilks, manager of the Mecca bingo club in Harlow town centre, said: "It is a much-loved game in Harlow and across the country so we are not surprised that hundreds of thousands of people have signed the petition and we are happy to know we have the support of the country behind us.

"Bingo customers in Harlow wanted to show their ongoing support for the Boost Bingo campaign by taking part in the procession 1 so that the Government can see how strongly we feel about this."

The Bingo Association, which represents licensed operators, has collected more than 300,000 petition signatures valling for bingo duty to be reduced from 20 per cent to 15 per cent.

Miles Baron, chief executive of the Bingo Association, said: "If bingo duty is lowered to 15 per cent the industry as a whole has committed to substantial investment in modernisation and jobs."

Memoirs of an 'accidental' MP

HARLOW'S former Conservative MP Jerry Hayes has admitted he started his career in politics "purely by accident".

Mr Hayes, who represented the town from 1983-1997, has written his memoirs An Unexpected MP: Confessions Of A Political Gossip, extracts from which have been appearing in the Daily Mail this week.

In the book - described as "an outrageous romp through Westminster" - Mr Hayes recalls his encounters with some of the main characters of the day including Margaret Thatcher, John Major, Norman Tebbit, Enoch Powell and John Prescott.

And in the extracts published in the Mail he reveals: "Few believe me but I entered the House of Commons purely by accident. I was in my twenties, doing well as a barrister and although I'd risen through the ranks of the Young Conservatives I had no desire to be an MP."

However, he was persuaded to stand for the Conservatives in the Labour stronghold of Harlow after being sounded out by one of the Tory Party grandees.

Mr Hayes writes: "I told him he was mad. He reassured me that even if I became the candidate I had no hope of winning. And they were desperate. That's why, on June 9, 1983, there were two very stunned people in the Harlow leisure centre."

● An Unexpected MP: Confessions Of A Political Gossip will be published by Biteback on March 17 priced at £16.99.

Fear and anger as streets fall into darkness

STREETS throughout Harlow have been plunged into darkness this week as Essex County Council's part-night lighting scheme came into effect.

Streetlights are now switched off between midnight and 5am to save money and reduce levels of carbon emissions and light pollution.

Exceptions to the switch-off include the town centre, key road junctions and accident hotspots.

While some people have welcomed the move, others have taken to social networks to voice their concerns.

Posting on the Star's Facebook page, Bridgitte Swanton wrote: "Last night they turned the street lights off in Harlow. What absolute madness. It's scary without the lights and I have no doubt there'll be a significant increase in crime. Bad idea Essex County Council."

And Frances Brock commented: "This is so dangerous for those who work late. Worried about rape and mugging; look at the numbers rise after you turn the street lights off."

Labour county councillor Mike Danvers, who represents Harlow North, said: "I have had irate emails and telephone calls. One lady in The Dashes

explained that she had no idea there would be a switch off and was quite terrified.

"It is a fait accompli I am afraid and there is nothing we can now do. However, I am hopeful of a review of the policy towards the end of the year."

"The Chief Constable of Essex has also gone on record to say that he will not hesitate to ask for a restoration of lighting if there is an increase in the crime rate during the early hours."

Writing in his column for the Star this week, Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson said: "I know residents are concerned about the impact this could have on their lives. Harlow Council will monitor the impact and pass on any concerns to Essex County Council."

A county council spokesman said: "As with all areas that have been moved on to part-night lighting, the council received information from those consulted, including those in Harlow, as to the lights they believe meet the exemption criteria and therefore should not be moved onto the part-night lighting scheme."

Wheelchair athlete Gary gearing up for St Clare's 10k fundraiser

A WHEELCHAIR athlete who trains with Harlow Athletic Club will be among those taking part in St Clare Hospice's 10k race later this month.

Retired lecturer Gary Donald, who has used a wheelchair since 1991, took up racing three years ago when he and his children decided they wanted to improve their fitness.

"I hadn't done any sport for a long time and when you're sitting down all day that's not the best thing to do," said Gary, 59, who trains with Harlow Athletic Club at the Mark Hall Sports Centre.

"I used to cycle to work and play badminton a couple of times a week but for the first five years I was in the chair I did absolutely nothing."

"I wish I'd known about wheelchair racing ages ago because I absolutely love it."

The father-of-two initially took part in 5km events but after a year he was given the opportunity to borrow a special race wheelchair and just nine months later he secured an 'elite' place in the London Marathon.

The number of disabled athletes competing in the race has increased in recent years as the race has become more inclusive for participants of all abilities.

Gary said: "It's great to see more and more wheelchairs taking part in the St Clare 10k and having the chance to not only compete but to raise money for a local charity supporting local people at the same time."

Registration for the St Clare 10k, which takes place in Hastingwood on Sunday, March 16, is £12 in advance, £10 for affiliated runners or £15 on the day.

Saskia confronts a fear of heights for skydive fundraiser

AN 18-year-old student from Harlow is taking her fundraising efforts to new heights with a charity skydive.

Saskia Burnett, of Ridgeways in Harlow, has taken on several challenges for the Head and Neck Cancer Fund based at Addenbrookes Hospital in Cambridge. Her latest is the skydive, which she was given as a birthday gift, in May.

The charity is special to Saskia because her grandfather, Graham Hutchinson, was treated for throat cancer at Addenbrookes.

Saskia said: "It's quite a big thing as I'm scared of heights, but it will be good to work on my fear and help people by raising money."

"I love fundraising, I will keep doing it I just like the idea of helping others."

"I'm excited, and happy to do it but really scared. I have done an abseil but nothing like this."

She added: "My granddad would be shocked at me doing a skydive, but he would be cheering me on."

So far Saskia, who has autism, has raised more than £1,000 with various charity challenges.

Her mum Suzanne, 48, told the Star that her daughter is obsessed with raising money to help others.

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"It was all she wanted to do for her 18th birthday," said Suzanne. "She just wanted to skydive and raise money. Raising money for charity is her obsession."

Saskia also suffers from dyspraxia and needed long sessions of speech therapy during her early years to be able to talk. Suzanne added: "She has autism and dyspraxia, She didn't speak till she was nearly seven years old."

"Now she doesn't stop talking, but considering that and the fact that she's scared of heights, what she does is amazing."

Two years ago Saskia raised more than £400 for the charity by walking 20-miles in eight hours in memory of her grandfather who lost his life to throat cancer in 2011.

She also raised £350 with an abseil.

Suzanne said: "We lost my Dad after he had a laryngectomy and she was really close to him. He'd be so proud of her."

"We're all very proud of everything she has done."

Jessica's cash goal for aid trip to Borneo

BURNT Mill Academy student Jessica Kelly has set herself the mammoth task of raising £4,500 to allow her to travel to Borneo for aid work.

The Year 10 pupil, of Katherines, Harlow, is hoping to travel to Asia with 10 other students to help build a school and help in a local community in August next year.

The money she raises will go towards her travel costs as well as food and vaccinations that the 14-year-old will need.

On Easter Sunday (April 20) Jessica will be hosting an event at the Herald pub, in Broadley Road, Harlow, to boost her fundraising total.

"There's going to be a disco and facepainting and there will be lots going on," Jessica said. "I decided to join the Borneo trip when my school spoke about it in assembly and mentioned what we'd be doing. It's a great opportunity."

"I'm really excited to go and help. We'll be doing lots of different things to help a community in Borneo so I need to raise £4,500 before I go."

Phil prepares for desert challenge

THE marketing manager for two Cashino gaming centres in East Gate and Terminus Street, Harlow will be trekking 100km across the world's hottest desert for charity.

Phil Gibbs hopes to raise £3,000 for The Responsible Gambling Trust - a national charity which provides treatment services for people with gambling problems and encourages people to gamble responsibly - by walking part of the Sahara desert.

Phil is one of 24 people taking on the fundraising challenge. The team hope to raise £50,000 for the charity.

The expedition, which sets off on Saturday, March 22, will take five days to complete.

To sponsor Phil, visit www.mydonate.bt.com/fundraisers/philbigtrek.

Marathon runner hosts buggy walk

A MOTHER-of-two who is taking on the London Marathon for children's charity, the NSPCC will be hosting a buggy walk tomorrow (Friday) to boost her fundraising total.

Donna Carr, 32, of Sadlers Mead is hoping to raise £2,000 for the charity and the buggy walk is one of many events she is hoping will help her reach her target.

The buggy walk will be setting off from the Harlow Baptist Church, Old Harlow at 9.30am. To join the fundraiser, participants must pay £5 - with all the money going towards the NSPCC.

To sponsor Donna visit, www.justgiving.com/Donna-Carr.

Two patrons join St Clare Hospice

ST Clare Hospice has appointed two new patrons to promote the charity's work.

TV horticulturalist Christine Walkden and Harlow MP Robert Halfon have agreed to take on the role and help raise the Hastingwood-based hospice's profile.

St Clare chief executive Tanya Curry said: "We are thrilled that Christine and Robert have agreed to become our newest patrons."

"Between them they have a wealth of expertise and experience and will be wonderful ambassadors for St Clare, helping us raise the profile of our charity and our caring work supporting patients and families in our community."

"I am certain their on-going support will greatly benefit our organisation and the people we seek to help."

St Clare Hospice weekly winners

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, February 28 was ticket holder 301085 who lives in Harlow. The second prize of £100 was won by the holder of ticket number 339691, who lives in Bishop's Stortford.

£9,000 lottery grant for equipment to develop sports for the disabled

DISABLED sportsmen and women in Harlow are set to benefit from a windfall of more than £9,000.

The money has come in the form of a National Lottery Get Equipped Small Grants fund administered by Sport England.

It will be used by the Harlow-based All Ability Sports and Leisure club to purchase new adaptable basketball wheelchairs, a racing wheelchair, Boccia equipment and fitness equipment, opening up opportunities for disabled people in the town to try new sports for the first time.

The aim is to increase participation in disability sports, targeting in particular individuals with a physical impairment and those with additional needs.

To celebrate the award, anyone with a physical impairment, as well as their families and friends, are being invited to the opening ceremony of the Harlow Athletics and Boccia Community Games on May 3 at the Mark Hall Sports Centre, either to watch or participate.

Neil Mann, chairman of All Ability Sports and Leisure, said: "We are delighted to have secured this investment, which means we can buy new equipment which will help us provide excellent activity sessions for all our members."

"It is the cornerstone of our strategy to have an outstanding club for the 2012 Olympics legacy."

Lisa O'Keefe, Sport England's director of insight, said: "We know that many organisations and clubs delivering sport struggle to provide sporting opportunities for disabled people because of lack of access to specialist equipment."

"We are delighted to award these vital funds to All Ability Sports & Leisure, which will play a transformative role in opening up sport to many people who previously found it inaccessible."

Plan to replace 'eyesore' block with family homes

A RUNDOWN block of flats in Harlow could be knocked down to make way for family homes.

A planning application has been submitted to demolish the current three-storey building at Wissants in Paringdon Road, and replace it with six affordable family homes.

The block, made up of 24 bedsits, was until recently used as part of a move-on scheme for young offenders. When funding for this scheme was cut, the building became vacant and the units were boarded up.

Tracy White, managing director

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

of Circle Housing South Anglia, said this week: "The site is currently occupied by a council-owned vacant block of bedsit flats."

"We are working closely with Harlow District Council to establish the best use for this block as it has been empty and boarded up for a number of years."

"We have now submitted a planning application to replace these bedsits with much needed homes for families nominated from the council's local housing register."

The proposals take into account the listed buildings in the immediate area, including Grade II listed Kingsmoor Lodge and Grade II* listed Kingsmoor House.

A statement accompanying the application said: "The redevelopment affords the opportunity to secure a better form of development on site of higher visual quality and which is in keeping with the residential development of the area."

It adds: "The main benefits are the redevelopment of a redundant modern block of bedsits with no architectural merit to provide affordable housing which will meet lifetime home standards. The boarded-up building is becoming a visual eyesore in the locality."

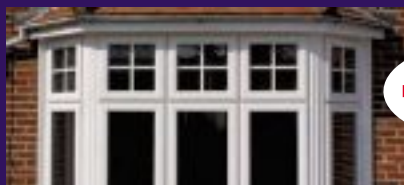

Other buildings on the Wissants development will remain as part of the plans.

The application is due to be heard by Harlow Council's development management committee on Wednesday, March 19.

Students excel in dance showcase

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TALENTED performing arts students took to the stage at Stewards Academy in Harlow for a show which raised money for a fund in memory of a young dancer who was killed in a car accident in October last year.

The youngsters, who attend the Dance Fusion group, gave two performances of Let Love Lead The Way in which they showcased various different styles of dance.

The money they raised will be donated to a scholarship fund set up following the tragic death of former Harlow College dance student Daniela Ruggiero.

The 18-year-old and her friend Charlotte Dove, 17, were killed when the car in which they were travelling to a teacher training centre in Royston burst into flames after it hit a deer and then crashed into another vehicle on the A10 near Ware.

Dance Fusion director Kerri-Ann Trowsdale, who teaches dance at Stewards, said: "This was our first main show and we had about 85 children involved. I was blown away by everyone. It was superb.

"I was backstage, but watching it back afterwards I was very proud to see how professional they all were."

She added: "A few of my staff members and people I have trained knew Daniela and were very close friends with her and her family. The scholarship fund is a fantastic cause helping dancers to be able to afford to go to stage school."

"We have so many dancers who have had to take time off to make enough money so they can then go on to school, so to be able to help a cause like The Daniela Ruggiero Scholarship Fund is something we would always aim to do."

Di Johnson, head of performing arts at Stewards, added: "The show was absolutely fantastic. It was brilliant to see so many different styles of performance from children, boys and girls, as young as five up to adults."

Council will be monitoring impact of lights switch-off

THIS week Essex County Council's part-night street lighting came into force leaving many neighbourhoods in the dark between midnight and 5am.

I know residents are concerned about the impact this could have on their lives. I and my colleagues wrote to the county council last year expressing Harlow's opposition to the scheme.

We will monitor the impact and pass on any concerns to the county council.

THIS month households will receive council tax bills.

Although Harlow Council collects council tax it only keeps a small proportion of the total bill. Out of every £100 collected in Harlow only £17 goes towards services provided by Harlow Council.

The annual bill for a Band C home is broken down as follows: £966 goes to Essex County Council, £230.34 to Harlow Council, £128.24 to Essex Police and £59.04 to Essex Fire Service.

For the town's average council taxpayer the weekly cost for services provided by Harlow Council is just £4.43. This helps provide services to 81,944 people and funds things like waste and recycling collections, street cleaning, maintenance of parks and open spaces, environmental health, licensing and playgrounds.

So while Harlow Council receives only a small amount in council tax it continues to try to deliver a lot.

WITH some residents struggling to make ends meet, the council continues to offer specialist help and support to those struggling to pay their bills.

Our work will be complemented and extended by Harlow Citizens Advice Bureau which has won a three-year contract from Harlow Council to provide a free welfare rights and advice service to residents.

This is great news and I'm delighted that Harlow residents will have access to this brand new service from April 1.

Nursery lesson for university students

KIDDI CARU DAY NURSERY Students from Anglia Ruskin University in Harlow visited the Kiln Lane nursery as part of their degree into early childhood professional studies.

Tutors at the university approached the nursery, which has received three 'outstanding' ratings from Ofsted, to help give their students a chance to experience a nursery environment.

Jennie Gregory, Nursery Manager, said: "Nurturing our staff is a core philosophy at Kiddi Caru so it was a natural progression for us to also help those that are working towards a career in the childcare industry."

"The staff spent time with the students, discussing everything from their roles and responsibilities to how the children's work is displayed within the nursery."

"We hope that the visit helped them to develop their knowledge and understanding of best practice within the early years setting."

School appeal for community help

FRESHWATERS PRIMARY The School Lane academy is appealing to the Harlow community to help create outdoor educational spaces for its pupils.

Acting headteacher Marios Solomonides is hoping to make better use of the school's outdoor space.

He said: "I would like to develop areas for children to take part in gardening and growing vegetables, as well as a wildlife area around our pond for them to learn in."

"We do have an allotment but it has been left unattended for so long we now need someone to come in and help us to start it over again."

"This is a community school and we would love our neighbours to come in and help us to develop these spaces."

To find out more, contact Amanda Farrow at admin@freshwaters.essex.sch.uk.

Chatterboxes sing for charity

BLOSSOMS NURSERY Youngsters took part in a musical fundraiser with a Chatterbox Challenge.

Staff at the Thornwood Common nursery helped Blossoms' toddlers create song hats for everyone to then take part in a sponsored sing-a-thon for children's communication charity I CAN.

The children sang their best renditions of nursery favourites Bubble Pop, Fish Alive, Row Your Boat, Miss Polly Had A Dolly and Wheels On The Bus.

Nursery manager, Bobbi Chana, said: "It was a fun morning as our children really enjoyed decorating the room."

"They showed off their talents with their singing and dancing which was accompanied by some musical instruments."

"We raised £70 on the morning and are still expecting more."

St Luke's miss out on a hat-trick

ST LUKE'S PRIMARY Pupils from the Pyenest Road academy took part in an athletics competition against 10 other schools at Mark Hall Academy.

Youngsters from every year were involved in the sports hall athletics competition where both of St Luke's teams finished runners-up.

Year 3 and 4 joined the morning session of the competition and were followed by Year 5 and 6 teams in the afternoon.

PE teacher Ann Cook said: "We took around 24 students in the morning and another 24 in the afternoon and they all really enjoyed themselves."

"We have won the competition the past two years and though we missed out on the hat-trick of wins, everyone did so well and we came runners-up in both the morning and afternoon sessions. It was a brilliant event, and was really well organised."

NEWS Council's £230k payout to teacher who slipped on a sachet of ketchup

ESSEX County Council has paid out £230,000 in compensation to a teacher who slipped on a sachet of ketchup.

The payout went to the unnamed secondary school teacher who slipped in a hallway on what is thought to have been a discarded ketchup sachet.

It was the biggest part of £1.05m ECC spent settling 34 claims between 2011 and 2013, according to a Freedom of Information request.

A member of staff who suffered a spine injury after slipping on a wet floor on two separate occasions on the same day received the second largest payout.

And a payment of £29,000 was made last year to a worker who damaged their wrist taking plates to a cupboard.

Meanwhile, further £57,000 went to an employee left with a head injury after a fridge door fell onto their head.

Most of the claims revealed under the Freedom of Information Act settled involved slips and trips, although four were related to assaults by pupils and one was a payout for stress.

A county council spokesman said: "We take our health, safety and wellbeing responsibilities seriously."

"All compensation claims received by Essex County Council are investigated fully and damages paid if the Council is liable."

The total payout figures include claimant damages and other costs associated with the cases such as third party and medical fees.

Jerry Glazier, who represents Essex on the National Union of Teacher national executive, said he believed the figures were in keeping with other authorities.

"As a union we will support members who pursue claims for personal injury and when we feel they have been poorly treated by management in schools," he said.

"Employers have a duty of care to both pupils and staff."

Whale graveyard is found in the desert

A HUGE graveyard of whale fossils believed to be millions of years old has been unearthed in a desert by workmen building a road in the South American country of Chile.

It is thought the remains of the giant sea creatures may have lain undetected for between six and nine million years. Scientists believe they probably died after eating poisonous algae.

As well as four different groups of whales the bones of sharks, dolphins and seals were also discovered during construction work on the road.

The find has been described as one of the most astonishing fossil discoveries of recent years.

A team of experts were given just two weeks to study the fossils before work started on the road again. They recorded as much detail as possible, including making 3D digital models of the remains before removing bones for further study.

Most of the skeletons are almost complete which gives researchers a lot of information about the history of the creatures and the sea.

One of the experts who worked on the discovery said: "There has never been a find of this size or this diversity anywhere in the world."

THE recent stormy weather is set to continue at Harlow Playhouse next month when a tornado will whisk audiences to the magical land of Oz.

This fabulous Easter production of The Wizard of Oz will feature all the characters we know and love as Dorothy, Scarecrow, Tin Man and Lion set off on a journey along the yellow brick road that will change them forever.

The Playhouse has joined forces with Captiv8 Productions to create this new, laugh-a-minute show especially for the stage. And this week we are giving you the chance to win one of two family tickets (four tickets) for the opening night.

With chart-topping songs, spectacular effects and belly-laughing comedy, the show is designed for all the family. The cast includes one of the Playhouse's most popular entertainers, Tom Swift, whose previous credits including appearances in Aladdin, Beauty and The Beast and Peter Pan.

"I absolutely love the Playhouse and am thrilled to be back working with the team on this exciting project," he said. "Audiences are going to love it."

Theatre manager Scott Ramsay said: "We really wanted to bring another Easter pantomime to Harlow and with

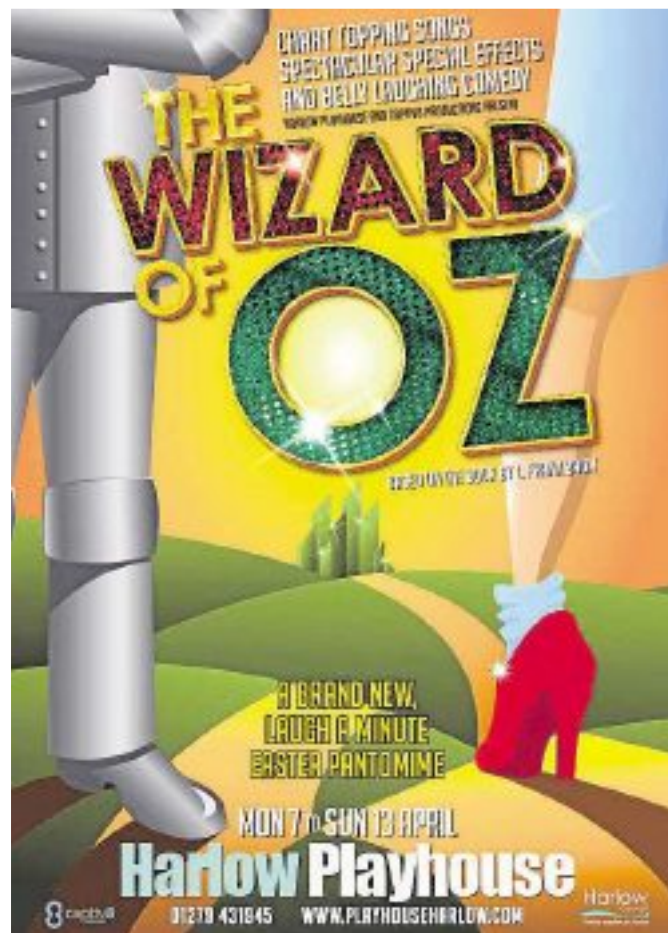

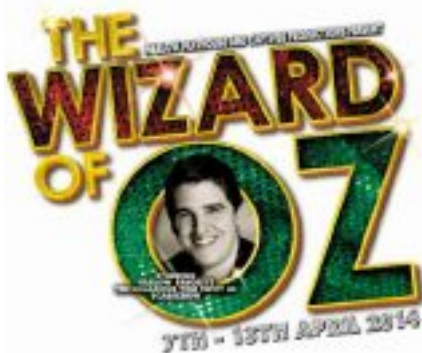

The Wizard of Oz we have a popular story with lots of possibilities. It's going to be great fun and great value." The Wizard of Oz runs from Monday, April 7 to Sunday, April 13, with ticket prices ranging from £13-£17. For a chance to win a family ticket to the opening night, all you have to do is answer this simple question:

Who played the role of Dorothy in the 1939 film version of The Wizard of Oz?

You can email your answer to competitions@hertsessexnews.co.uk making sure you put 'Star Wizard of Oz' in the subject line. Alternatively, enter online at www.harlowstar.co.uk/Whats-On-Leisure and follow the entry instructions.

The closing date for entries is Tuesday, March 11.

St Christopher's School
LETCORTH GARDEN CITY

College inspires a love of learning

YOU know when you experience inspiration, but what exactly is it? The origin of the verb is inspiring in itself: from the Latin inspirare, meaning to breathe or blow into.

Breathing into pupils the love of learning, the courage to take risks and the desire to make a difference is the essence of the Stortfordian spirit; an approach to life that becomes part of those who journey through Bishop's Stortford College and stays with them throughout their lives.

As one parent observed soon after her son started at the College: "Within a week, the differences we were seeing in our son were astounding. He actively wants to do more and has just blossomed. We can't work out exactly what it is, but there is just something in the atmosphere that makes learning and being involved natural rather than an effort or above the norm."

Visit www.bishopsstortfordcollege.org to Making a difference for 99 years

St Christopher School in Letchworth Garden
City has a long, successful tradition of treating young people as individuals, encouraging them to develop into capable, imaginative, responsible people with a zest for life.

When the school was founded in 1915, the Daily Herald reported that the school was based "not on the sameness of children, their conformity to type, but on their differences".
This concept was revolutionary at the time and continues to be one of the distinctive characteristics of a St Chris education.

Things are done differently because they work. Children decide what they wear to school because it teaches them to be self-reliant and to make informed choices. Pupils and staff alike are called by their first names

because this promotes better relationships, based on mutual trust.

St Christopher's distinctive and innovative approach to education has been going for 99 years and its methods have stood the test of time. The school has been told by universities and employers that it produces well-rounded, high-capability individuals with the skills and confidence to thrive in the modern world.

The first step to achieving extraordinary things

Pre-Prep Open Morning
Saturday 26th April 2014, 9.30am-11.30am

Every small step towards success matters. From the very first moment children join the College community, they are surrounded by inspiring role models who enable them to develop the same confidence and ability to transform the ordinary into the extraordinary.

So many plusses at Coopersale Hall

COOPERSALE Hall School is Epping's leading independent preparatory school for girls and boys from two-and-a-half to 11.

With excellent results at 11+ for children entering selective senior schools, Coopersale Hall's small class sizes provide a personalised education and a friendly, family-oriented nurturing environment that helps each individual fulfil their potential.

Only two minutes from Epping station, Coopersale Hall is ideally located, with excellent facilities for all ages. With more than 40 before and after-school clubs and activities, there is something for everyone, from languages to ball sports, fencing, karate and yoga. Continued investment in extra staff ensures that pupils of all abilities are suitably supported and stretched.

Headmistress Kaye Lovejoy said: "There has been a remarkable level of interest recently in all year groups, especially in our reception classes for rising five-year-olds. Many hopeful families are looking to join us at 7+ in Year 3 to give their children the best chance of success at 11+ when they look to gain entry to local selective and state senior schools. I'm not surprised as we have an excellent track record helping pupils into a wide range of senior schools."

Extra-curricular clubs and activities are fundamentals of Haileybury life

MANY schools describe themselves as offering an 'all-round education' and much emphasis is placed upon their range of extra-curricular clubs and activities – from chess to cheerleading, squash to scuba diving.

Haileybury is different. The bespoke education it offers does not depend on children choosing 'bolt-on' options in order to balance their academic studies; Haileybury's co-curricular programme is fundamental to a Haileybury education – it is a way of life.

Whether Haileyburians enter the school at 11, 13 or 16, it strives to ensure all pupils fulfil their academic potential.

The College prides itself on discovering as well as nurturing talent and offers a personalised learning experience that encourages intellectual exploration and practical ambition.

Sport, music, art and drama are not just optional extras but ensure pupils engage outside the classroom and learn key life skills which will stand them in good stead for university and the wider world beyond.

Welcome Holmes: return of the super sleuth

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ENGLAND'S greatest super sleuth returns to The Playhouse stage next week - and the audience will help to shape the outcome of the case.

The Pantaloon Theatre Company will be bringing its touring production of Sherlock Holmes on Wednesday and Friday.

The new adaptation by writer/director Mark Hayward will deliver a mash-up of the best bits from Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's much-loved stories - as well as a few surprises along the way.

Mark, a founding member of the company, said: "We characterise our work as post-modern folk theatre. We take well-loved tales and give them a contemporary twist, making them accessible for new audiences and showing seasoned fans something that they perhaps had not seen in them before."

The Essex-based company prides itself on creating interactive productions that can vary from performance to performance - and next week's shows are no exception.

"The outcome of the play can be very different at each performance," said Mark. "In fact, depending on suggestions from the audience, the show will change a lot."

"It's a very exciting concept but we don't want to spoil anything by revealing too much."

The four-strong cast will be putting the dynamic detective duo of Holmes and Watson through their paces as they tackle their most fiendish cases in this delightfully inventive and hilarious show which will include original live music, puppetry and improvisation.

However, the production will remain faithful to the spirit of the famous detective.

Mark added: "The real strength of the Holmes stories, aside from the adventure elements and clever mysteries, is the relationship between Holmes and Watson and brilliant dialogue that still sparkles straight off the page."

"It makes adapting the stories for stage a real joy."

>> Sherlock Holmes is being performed in The Playhouse Studio on Wednesday, March 12 and Friday, March 14. Performances start at 7.45pm. Tickets cost £14 and are available from the box office by calling (01279) 431945 or visiting www.playhouseharlow.com.

Comedy spoof mixes Arthurian knights with a disco soundtrack

VICTORIA Hall Theatre in Old Harlow will be playing host to a legendary tale with a twist.

The senior group of Class Act Theatre School (CATS) will be presenting Knight Fever - directed by husband and wife duo Simon Mawdsley and Caroline Petherbridge - in which the knights of the round table are relocated to the 1970s disco era.

The comedy spoof sees young apprentice Arthur magically transported 1,000 years into the future to 1977 where flared trousers, platform shoes and thumping disco are the order of the day.

Co-director Simon said: "We have a very big group - about 40 people aged 11 to 18 - but everything is going very well."

"The group are all very excited; some have been with us for many years. It's going to be a great show."

"You do not too often get characters from Arthurian legend dancing to the music of the BeeGees!"

>> Knight Fever runs from Thursday, March 20 to Saturday, March 22 with performances starting at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £10 (£8 concessions) and are available by calling 07870 663480.

The Guide*GARDENING & PUZZLES

Perking up your patio

If the rain ever lets up long enough for us to venture out on to our patios, we'll need some quick fixes to brighten them up in time for the warmer, and hopefully drier, months of spring.

But, aside from jetwashing them, what should the average gardener actually be doing to these patios?

Garden designer Diarmuid Gavin, who last year added a wraparound balcony and cast iron columns decorated with swathes of wisteria to his own patio in Co Wicklow, Ireland, has some ideas.

Bulbs planted in patio pots back in September may have rotted if they haven't been given good drainage and were standing on pot feet, he says, but even if there's no sign of them, all is not lost.

"Even now, if you just lift the pot to allow them to drain, the bulbs and plantings may be all right."

In addition to the practical, Gavin, has some easy patio design tips too.

"You can brighten up the patio with instant colour, but be innovative about what you plant and how you do it."

He suggests going to your local restaurant or take-away to see if they have any large metal containers which once held olives or other food. Drill a few holes in the bottom, put a layer of gravel at the bottom and fill the rest with well-drained compost and either put in a selection of wonderful herbs like basil or marjoram or even some salads like Lollo Rosso or Swiss chard, or even nasturtiums and marigolds, and you will have results fast.

By Hannah Stephenson

"Another thing I love is to get big oil drums from reclamation yards for next to nothing, clean them up and paint them in Caribbean colours. If you have a collection of them you can cut some of them down to size and they make the most fantastic containers.

"Large containers like these will take a good quantity of manure and topsoil. If they're big enough, you can plant birch trees or clumps of bamboos to create borders and long-term planting once you've top-dressed and had them irrigated.

"Be innovative about your choice of container and then make sure you have a good solid medium for them to grow in."

If you want to invest in new garden furniture there's a wealth of choice too, adds Gavin.

"Fifteen years ago if you wanted garden furniture you got a picnic bench or a plastic chair that cost £2.99. There's been a radical change in furniture, with durable woven plastics, colourful seating and the new thing we're going to see are cabanas."

If you want to hide unsightly eyesores like water butts, you can just put a big pot in front of them, he says.

"People often make the mistake of corralling eyesores behind bits of trellis or fencing. If you do that, you make the garden look smaller and draw more attention to what you're trying to hide.

"If you're trying to hide something in the shade, go for a light framework of honeysuckle, which emits a fantastic scent, or some rambling roses. Simplicity is key in this to avert the eye away from the offensive article."

Spring planting could incorporate double daisies (Bellis perennis), Bachelor buttons (cornflower) or cheiranthus (wallflower).

"Use traditional bedding in a more radical way. And if you didn't plant bulbs, buy some which are about to come into flower, whether dwarf daffodils, hyacinths or tulips and surround them with bedding or with ivies in pots."

"Don't try to be too tasteful. When I grew up in a very suburban street I grew up with blue and white and blue and white. Mass-plant different shades of blue together, while clashing colours of bedding can be incredibly exuberant."

Madcap crime caper is brilliantly bonkers

certificate 15, 1h40m

WHEN director Wes Anderson is good, he's very good. And even when he's occasionally off-key, the Texan writer-director still puts other filmmakers in the shade.

For The Grand Budapest Hotel he is in sparkling form. It's a tour-de-force of invention and creativity that leaves no narrative stone unturned in its quest for laughs and heartfelt emotion as it traces the history of the titular establishment from 1932 to the present day through the eyes of two lovers who become embroiled in a madcap crime caper involving a stolen painting.

Anderson marshals an incredible cast including regular collaborators

Owen Wilson, Jason Schwartzman and Bill Murray, and teases out an uproarious and energetic performance from Ralph Fiennes as the suave protagonist at the centre of the mystery.

A neat framing device introduces Zero Moustafa (Tony Revolori), who secures a coveted position as lobby boy at one of eastern Europe's celebrated establishments, the Grand Budapest Hotel in the Republic of Zubrowka.

Zero works under legendary concierge Gustave H (Fiennes). Clients, especially older women, are putty in Gustave's well-manicured hands and he lavishes them with affection, including ageing matriarch Madame D (Tilda Swinton).

When she perishes in suspicious circumstances and leaves a priceless Renaissance painting to Gustave in her will, grief-stricken relatives including Madame's greedy son Dmitri (Adrien Brody) plot the concierge's downfall.

The finger of suspicion for Madame D's demise points at Gustave and he goes on the run, hotly pursued by wily police chief Henckels (Edward Norton) and Dmitri's sadistic henchman (Willem Dafoe).

With the continent changing at frightening speed, Gustave and accomplice Zero attempt to outwit their pursuers and prove the concierge's innocence, aided by a pretty baker's assistant called Agatha (Saoirse Ronan).

The Grand Budapest Hotel offers audiences a luxurious five-star stay inside Anderson's vision. Every frame is beautifully crafted, set to a jaunty score by composer Alexandre Desplat.

If Fiennes is a revelation in a rare comedic role, supporting performances are equally memorable including Swinton's cranky grand dame and Jeff Goldblum's ill-fated lawyer.

Bookmarked into five chapters, the narrative twists and turns at delirious speed. It's a brilliantly bonkers ensemble comedy from a filmmaker who marries quirky production design with eccentric characters and wry humour, yet still manages to find a nub of humanity in every outlandish situation.

NOAM Munro directs the second chapter in the action-packed 300 saga based on Frank Miller's graphic novel Xerxes.

Artemesia (Eva Green), vengeful commander of the Persian navy, and mortal-turned-god Xerxes (Rodrigo Santoro) marshal their forces for an assault on a fractured and wounded Greece, which is still reeling from the noble death in battle of King Leonidas (Gerard Butler).

The Persians take the battle to sea. Meanwhile, Greek general Themistokles (Sullivan Stapleton) attempts to unite his country by leading the charge that will change the course of the conflict.

He is aided by fellow soldier Aeskylos (Hans Matheson) and Spartan Queen Gorgo (Lena Headey), whose husband Leonidas fell during the fierce and bloody Battle of Thermopylae, which was chronicled in the first film.

ESCAPE FROM PLANET EARTH
certificate U, 1h26m

SCOTCH Supernova (voiced by Brendan Fraser) returns from a daredevil rescue assignment to a hero's welcome from his home planet Baab. Locals whoop as Scorch stage-dives from the cargo doors of his spaceship and scoops up Baab News Network anchorwoman Gabby Babblebrook (Sofia Vergara), who swoons in his arms.

But Scorch's strait-laced older brother Gary (Rob Corddry), who works as a controller at Baab's space agency BASA, is unimpressed by the recklessness of his sibling and quits his job just as Scorch prepares to venture to Planet Earth.

Back home with his wife Kira (Sarah Jessica Parker) and son Kip (Jonathan Morgan Heit), Gary continues to bemoan his brother's impetuosity. But when Scorch is captured by the villainous General Shanker (William Shatner) and his men and images are beamed back to Baab, George must for once take the lead to rescue his sibling.

CAR mechanic Tobey Marshall (Aaron Paul) runs his father's garage but is struggling to make ends meet so he relies on the prize money from illegal street races to pay the bills.

Aided by his team comprising of Benny (Kid Cudi), Joe (Ramon Rodriguez), Finn (Rami Malek) and Pete (Harrison Gilbertson), Tobey is king of the road until a race against cocksure rival Dino Brewster (Dominic Cooper) ends in tragedy.

Tobey is arrested and sentenced to time behind bars for a crime he did not commit. When Tobey is finally released he swears revenge against Dino by competing against his nemesis in a legendary race organised by the enigmatic Monarch (Michael Keaton). However, Tobey doesn't have a car with the necessary horsepower so he borrows a turbo-charged motor from a friend and is forced to take along the friend's ballsy associate, Julia Maddon (Imogen Poots), as a passenger for the race.

Sparks of sexual attraction fly, complicating Tobey's relationship with old flame Anita (Dakota Johnson), who is now dating Dino.

Aries 21 March - 20 April
Emotions may be set on high earlier in the week, as the Moon triggers a dynamic and potentially challenging T-Square. Though you may be tempted to overreact, a measured approach can bring a compromise one step nearer. Later, channeling feelings in constructive ways might help you realize a long-held desire, especially as far as a pet project is concerned. Call for more news...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
Trying to get your point across could encourage defensiveness from another. Yet, with a little more flexibility, perhaps you can both win. Social options can be positively enhanced by accepting an invite, and being willing to mix and mingle. But there's more, as a weekend Full Moon, can highlight options for a tender interaction. Call me for your love scope in full...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
Life seems fun, with a chance to attend social events and connect with supportive friends. However, don't let frustration be a cause of arguments, when agreeing to disagree could save a lot of trouble. With a fresh mindset, a creative idea could help you soar ahead. Later, a get-together may be boisterous under the Full Moon's influence. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
You often have a canny ability to tune in and know what's on other people's minds. However, a Mercury Saturn link, suggests it's best to leave well alone should someone close prefer their own company. Later in the week, a convivial connection can bring other family members together in the spirit of celebration, while lively news might transform your weekend. Call for more news...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
Your soul may be whispering to you, particularly if day to day circumstances have been sapping your spirits lately. What you think you want and what you need, could be two different things. Perhaps a decision is needed in order to restore harmony and energy levels. If so, a friend's kindly advice could spur you into making necessary changes. Call for more news and advice...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
Though you might hope to be efficient, you could suffer a technical hitch, anyway. Whether this comes in the form of a person or obstacle, embracing the spirit of compromise might just work. Later, as feelings build, a decision can be reached. The Full Moon in your sign, could encourage you to clear the air and release a burden. Call your prediction line for more news and advice...

Libra 24 September - 23 October
With Mars's retrograde phase underway, you may be reveling in a new found assertiveness, making a positive difference to key relationships. Along with this, allowing creative opportunities to blossom unselfishly, can unlock energies to further positive experiences - including romance. Indeed, one dream might be about to come to pass. Call for more advice...

Scorpio 24 October - 22 November
Looking to reach out and explore fresh options? The continuing and potentially testing T-Square, might encourage a change of routine, to one that offers more free time and independence. Along with this, harnessing emotions, as suggested by a Sun Saturn link, can speed up progress concerning a personal creative project, or perhaps a romantic relationship. Call me for more...

Sagittarius 23 November - 21 December
Consider brainstorming, especially if you feel becalmed. A discussion with friends or work colleagues, might produce a stream of positive ideas that helps you set sail again. On the home front, an intuitive hunch can inspire a practical plan to resolve a tricky issue. Later, a charismatic mood might impress the right person by the week's end. Call now for your love scope in full...

Capricorn 22 December - 20 January
Words of encouragement could inspire you to keep trying. In fact, a Sun Saturn connection, later in the week, reveals that positive collaboration might be what's needed to help you to forge ahead in exciting and innovative ways. The Full Moon over the weekend, urges a temporary escape, perhaps enticing you to lose yourself in a book or movie. Call now for more advice...

Aquarius 21 January - 19 February
Plenty of rest and relaxation may be the order of the week, as Jupiter continues to challenge Uranus. Anything that soothes the mind and encourages inner harmony, might also boost resilience. As Mercury links with Mars, the willingness to research your options could give you the creative perspective needed to move ahead. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Pisces 20 February - 20 March
As a Pisces, you're generally at home in the shifting world of feelings, so you may feel happy and at ease this week. A desire can build like a wave, and with your expertise in the element of water, you might find you have the knowhow to make it a concrete reality. A Virgo Full Moon over the weekend, hints that patience could well be a virtue. Call for more news and advice...

Guide price £899,950
Agent Wright & Co, The Old Post Office, 4 Church Street, Sawbridgeworth. Telephone (01279) 600400

RODEN Lodge is an impressive family home in the popular village of Beauchamp Roding, just 15 minutes from Chelmsford.

The house, which has been much improved and extended by the present owners, has traditional, well-proportioned rooms with high ceilings and sash windows.

The canopied entrance with a solid oak panelled door opens into an entrance hall where there is a staircase rising to the first floor landing and wide boarded pitch pine floor. Leading off the hall are a cloakroom and a cellar.

The lounge is an attractive room with an Oriel bay with double doors opening on to the terrace and garden. There is an enamelled log burning stove on a raised slate hearth with exposed brick stack and an oak floor.

The dining room has a sash window to the front with rural views and a cast iron log burning stove with raised slab hearth and full height rustic brick stack. There is another stove in the study, which also has sash windows to two aspects.

A small inner lobby leads to the drawing room and the snug. The former is another well-proportioned room with double opening doors on two aspects leading to the terrace and garden. A large cast iron stove sits on a raised herringbone brick hearth with full height stack and doors lead through to the snug which has a sash window to the side.

The kitchen features a good range of oak-fronted units and a double oven oil-fired cream Aga. Next to the kitchen is a utility/boot room which leads out to the parking area.

There are five bedrooms and a family bathroom. The master bedroom also has en-suite facilities.

The grounds extend to 1.2 acres and include an extensive paved entertaining terrace. There is a working well, a former moat, large orchard area and a spacious paddock to the rear. The boundaries are enclosed by mature hedging and fencing. There is also a double cart lodge with a studio room above.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

HOW good are you at keeping your emotions in check?

Are you someone who tends to listen to your heart rather than your head? If so, when it comes to house hunting it can cost you dearly.

It's not surprising that emotions run high when we're buying property. The money involved - not to mention the long term implications of getting it wrong - all have to be taken into account, which can be difficult if you've fallen in love at first sight.

In the first few minutes of viewing a potential new home our sensory organs go into overdrive. They tell us how we feel and what our heart desires, but it's important to try and keep calm.

It's easy when noticing the roaring log fire or the beautifully landscaped gardens to turn a blind eye to the fact that the beautiful old rectory with its two acres of garden will add an extra hour to your daily commute. It's only once you've moved in that the negatives you chose to ignore begin to surface.

Buyers who get caught up in the moment too often pay the price.

Instinct is usually a good thing. If it feels right it often is, but you still need to detach yourself long enough to determine the nature of an overwhelming attraction.

If you've fallen for a particular property, ask yourself whether you love the kitchen because of its pop-up TV, soft close drawers and expensive granite worktops or is it because the room will work for your family life?

The house that will make you the happiest won't be the biggest, the one with the fanciest gadgets or even the one with the mood lighting on the party patio. It will be the one where you will build memories and celebrate life events with friends and family.

All change for Qashqai

drive
www.harlowstar.co.uk

■ MATT KIMBERLEY

THE first Qashqai has been a success Nissan had barely dared to dream about, but now it's time for the difficult second album.

Such was the original Qashqai's success, global sales have continued to increase every year it's been on sale, defying the expectations and predictions of experts everywhere.

The problem is, there isn't much room for improvement – in sales terms, at least.

There were a few gripes with the car affectionately known as the Cash Cow, most notably the gutless petrol engine and perceived quality. Both of these issues, and many more besides, have been tackled in the new car.

First impressions: Nissan has taken a bit of a risk, because the 2014 Qashqai looks nothing like the old one.

Any first-generation model owners who appreciate familiarity when upgrading (like serial Audi A3 buyers) might have preferred a less drastic stroke of the designer's pen.

Fact File

Nissan Qashqai

£17,595

ENGINE: 1.5-litre turbodiesel
TRANSMISSION: Six-speed manual gearbox
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 113mph 0-62 in 11.9s
ECONOMY: 74mpg
CO² RATING: 99g/km

In the metal the longer, wider and lower new Qashqai has a well-balanced stance and a nice weightiness to its shape that hints at a more purposeful intent than before.

Climbing into the driver's seat you're greeted by a much more upmarket interior than the old Qashqai's was, and this top-spec Tekna model is packed with kit, too.

Sat-nav, internet connectivity and heated, leather seats catch my eye as I buckle my seat belt. Advanced chassis dynamics control and active safety equipment are prepared, but out of sight.

This cabin is a solid piece of design and layout, and the materials are right up there with the class best.

The shiny black centre console fascia splits opinion, though, with some calling it a prestige feature, while others would rather see it at the bottom of a skip.

Engine options: Three engines will be available at first, with two quiet diesels and a new, turbocharged 1.2-litre petrol engine in place of the decidedly feeble old 1.6. The diesels, at 1.5 and 1.6 litres, are similar in character but here they use very different gearboxes.

In a rather clever move, Nissan has engineered its continually-variable automatic transmission (CVT) to simulate the 'stepped', linear behaviour of traditional gears under hard acceleration. It feels instantly more natural as a result, but it does ultimately dent the 1.6 diesel's performance.

The engine itself, like its slightly smaller sibling, is amazingly quiet in normal use before high revs make it as rowdy as a bucket of piglets. The 1.5 actually has a slight edge in refinement after significant development, and with new gearing for its six-speed manual shift, it sneaks down to a remarkable 99g/km of CO₂ emissions. Performance is adequate rather than impressive.

The petrol engine is still too weak for this car. Its battle against tall gearing and weight, which although reduced by 40kg is still fairly high, is best fought in town and suburbs where it copes well. Getting up to motorway speeds is a task it struggles with.

Doing the daily grind: Practicality has taken a turn for the better, with more interior storage including a biblically large central bin between the front seats. The boot has a clever arrangement of panels that as standard flatten the load lip, but, with a quick switch, can stop your shopping sliding around or increase the overall boot capacity.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer
your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, home and mobile phone numbers and email address. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

A busy local company requires a full time ware house trainee with knowledge of woodworking skills and an office assistant to work part time with knowledge of Sage, Excel and CAD (an advantage but not an necessity).

Coaches thrive at free session

MORE than 30 local Essex grass roots coaches learned more about 'Developing Attacking Play for 12s-16s' at a free, three-hour in-service coaching event on the 4G pitch at Harlow Town FC.

The well-attended session included practical and classroom-based elements and discussions about the attributes of effective attacking, and attendees were able to share ideas with other club coaches and teachers. They also had the chance to catch up with Football Association and Essex County FA staff, including Coaching Development Officer, Gary Piggott.

For the level two and three coaches present, the event contributed towards their commitment of Continuing Professional Development (CPD) hours. CPD is part of being an FA Licensed Coach and it demonstrates intent to constantly improve the appropriate skills. It means committing to a given number of hours of training per year, depending on the level of the qualification a coach holds.

Find out more about the FA Licensed Coaches Club, including how to become a member, by going to www.essexfa.com.

For the 2013/14 season, membership is free! For details on becoming a coach in Essex, or if you're an existing coach looking for development opportunities, call Gary Piggott on (01245) 393088 or email gary.piggott@essexfa.com

Ladies thrash close neighbours Chelmsford

HARLOW Ladies crushed close rivals Chelmsford 27-5 in the RFUW National Challenge South East North division one.

The Rams ran in five good tries to secure the win on Sunday, making sure of the league points and a bonus point for scoring more than four tries.

Playing with the slope in their favour, fly-half Sarah Stimpson got them off to a good start, breaking through the defence with sheer speed.

Chelmsford took advantage of a penalty to get up into the Harlow 22 and from a driving maul powered over for a try.

Harlow countered with forwards and backs linking well to add three more tries, one converted by Sonia Rochester, to make the score 22-5 at the interval.

In the second half playing up the slope and into a strong wind, the hosts found it harder to get deep into the Chelmsford half.

The visitors defended strongly but when they did break out, determined tackling kept them well clear of the line.

Harlow added one more try for a score of 27-5 at the close.

The other try scorers were Lorna Hunter, a second for Stimpson, Louise Steel and Julie Gilbert.

HARLOW: Lee, Boggas, Hunter, Rochester, Wooller, Wood, McCarthy, Dixon, Smith, Stimpson, Sturman, McLellan (captain), O'Donnell, Mills, McKenna. Subs: Marshall, Steel, Gilbert, Oakes.

Hawks leave it late to get title charge back on track

IT was tense, but Harlow Hawks just held on for a 52-49 victory at Michaelians on Monday to get their Herts Basketball League division two promotion campaign back on track.

Shab Niaz's men managed to turn the tide after a couple of confidence-sapping losses.

Watford-based hosts Michaelians, who had run Hawks close earlier in the season, were on the back foot as the visitors had much of the possession in the opening period, but were unable to put away their chances.

The home side took advantage of each opportunity they had and brokered an early lead.

Tom White and Lee Morris got Hawks on the scoreboard.

Michaelians 49
Harlow Hawks 52
(Herts Basketball League, division two)

A lack of defensive rotation from Hawks allowed Michaelians to score freely and take a five-point lead at the midway point of the quarter.

Roan Lenihan connected on a pair of three-pointers either side of a Michaelians' score to get Hawks back into the game, but the first quarter finished with Harlow trailing 18-14.

The second quarter saw Hawks pushing the ball up the floor well and starting to play better defence, which resulted in holding the home side to five points in the first six minutes of the quarter.

During this period Hawks were dominating the play with scores coming from Rimantas Norkeliunas, Russ Allan and Lenihan.

However, Hawks struggled to convert their free-throws and reward their hard work and let Michaelians lead at half-time, 26-24.

Hawks came out firing in the second half, as brilliant team defence resulted in limiting Michaelians to two points in the first eight minutes of the quarter.

Morris got the scoring going for Hawks with a three-pointer, and the defence provided the opportunity to get some easy scores as Hawks exploded into an 11-point lead.

But some unforced turnovers allowed Michaelians to close the deficit to 41-34 going into the final break.

Neither team could impose themselves on the game in the first five minutes of the quarter as they hardly troubled the scoreboard.

Michaelians then found a new lease of life and tied up the score at 47-47, as Hawks struggled to score or turn the ball over on a number of occasions.

Lenihan hit a three-pointer to give Hawks some breathing space, and a frantic final minute saw Hawks managing to hold out for the win.

HARLOW HAWKS: Lenihan (18pts), Morris (7pts), Norkeliunas (7pts), Jones (6pts), Allan (4pts), White (4pts), Martin (2pts), Stonehouse (2pts), Lovett (2pts), Burgess, Whytock.

Sixth appeals to Lewis in Essex Schools Champs

EIGHT Harlow youngsters competed in the 2014 Essex Schools Cross Country Championships.

In the Year 8 boys race over 3km, Lewis Harknett, a Stewards Academy student, fared superbly once again on a fine day at Chelmsford's Hylands Park with the course still boggy in places.

He is enjoying an excellent winter racing over the country.

He placed sixth in 11 minutes and 37 seconds.

His brother Owen placed 24th in 12.29.

The twins were both recovering from heavy colds, so this was an excellent achievement.

Lewis will again represent Essex at the Southern Inter Counties Championships on March 29 at the same venue, while his brother Owen is a reserve.

In the first race of the day, the Year 7 girls event with 220 starting the 2.2km course, Hannah Page and Sienna Taylor both exceeded expectations.

Hannah finished an excellent 10th and in 17th was Sienna, their times being 9.22 and 9.36 respectively.

The Burnt Mill pupils have also qualified to represent Essex in the Southern Inter Counties Championships.

The next race, the Year 7 boys event, was held over

The Burnt Mill student will also represent Essex. Her training partner Mia Hiron (St Nicholas) ran well for 15th in a time of 11.33, earning her first county vest.

Right behind her was Megan Caswell, a Burnt Mill student, in 16th in 11.35, which also secured her county vest.

Runners on track for Silverstone

HARLOW Running Club were represented at the Adidas Silverstone Half Marathon, run on the historic motor racing circuit and organised by the team responsible for the Virgin London Marathon.

While several HRC members managed one of the water stations en route, five runners completed the course.

Andrew Ramage finished the course in 1,517th place out of 6,778 finishers in a superb 1 hour, 47 minutes and 1 second, a personal best (PB) time for the distance by more than three minutes.

He was followed home by Matt Jones, 1,986th in 1:50.53, Paul Schroder, 2,148th in a PB time of 1:52.29, Susan Dewen, 4,652nd in 2:14.35 and Paulene Galoppi, 5,322nd in 2:23.16.

Meanwhile in the Serpentine 5K at Hyde Park in London, Steve Murtagh finished in 13th place out of 215 finishers and was second in the veteran 40 age group in an excellent 17.7.

At the Gunpowder Park run 5K at Waltham Abbey, Jason Haigh finished in seventh place out of 106 finishers in 19.59 and Celia Haigh was 70th in 28.15.

At the Little Rock Marathon in Arkansas, USA Andy Kinney finished in 1,307th place in 5:50.55 with the runners experiencing severe weather conditions including thunderstorms.

This was Kinney's second marathon in seven days.

Previously, Kinney completed the Tokyo Marathon in 5:57.13.

Team stay in promotion race

HARLOW were thankful to Solomon Ana Maria Castillo who stood in and enabled their 10-man team to defeat a Thurrock side boasting a 16-player squad.

The side are now fourth in division six south east of the East Men's Hockey League after Saturday's 1-0 victory, just split on goal difference from the team in the final promotion berth.

Harlow came close to breaking the deadlock with some great runs from midfield and defence by Luke Krzoska and Martin Cox.

The hosts started the second half very brightly and, from a short corner, Martin Cox fired narrowly wide.

With about 10 minutes left Harlow broke again, this time the ball being played to John Gould, who managed to get a cross into the D, which was coolly slotted into the net by Rhys Mace at the far post.

New boy Castillo defended well to secure a clean sheet.

HARLOW: Fuller, Cox, N. Boughtwood, Johnson, Adams, Castillo, R. Boughtwood, Krzoska, Gould, Mace.

Harlow Hawks' hopes of going up are Bull-dozed as proud home record falls

HARLOW Hawks' promotion hopes were further dented by a 64-49 loss to Bedford Bulls in division two of the Herts Basketball League, as they lost their impressive undefeated home record.

The Bulls had already beaten Harlow at their place early on in the season and the Hawks missed a chance to repay the favour.

Hawks started the game with a nice tempo and Russell Stonehouse knocked down jump shots for some early points.

Slick ball movement led to some easy scores for Tom White and Russ Allan under the basket.

However, the Bulls matched the Hawks basket for basket and led 16-15 at the end of the first quarter.

Alex Hinds provided some much needed energy and effort on the defensive end, but the rest of the Hawks never backed him up.

A number of missed free throw attempts from the Hawks also saw them miss an opportunity to take the lead into the half-time break with the Bulls up 28-26.

The third quarter again saw both teams trade baskets.

Hinds transferred his defensive energy to the offensive end with a couple of scores. He was backed up by Stonehouse who came up with a high flying defensive play and was rewarded with a basket at the other for his efforts to run the floor.

As both teams headed into the final period it was anyone's game with Bulls ahead 47-43.

Harlow had a hard time putting the ball in the basket in the fourth quarter, as they could only muster six points in the final 10 minutes of play.

The free-scoring Bulls hit top form in the final two minutes and were 15 points clear at the end.

HARLOW HAWKS: Stonehouse (15pts), Hinds (13pts), White (4pts), Lenihan (3pts), Morris (3pts), Allan (3pts), Wytok (2pts), Martin (2pts), Norkeliunas (2pts), Burgess (2pts), Jones, Griffin.

Chapman targets signing after losing injured Brown

KEY midfielder Danny Brown has been ruled out for the rest of the season for Hawks with a knee injury.

It had been hoped that the 33-year-old former Barnet player might return but this was wiped out after he consulted a specialist earlier this week.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "It is a massive blow for us. We all know what Danny Brown can bring to a football team."

"However, the team have done well while he has been out for two-and-a-half months."

Chapman said he would try and get in a replacement midfielder before the transfer deadline at the end of this month.

Dereham Tn 2

(Ryman League, division one north)

Harlow face basement side Waltham Forest this Saturday before they face fellow promotion hopefuls AFC Sudbury twice in the space of five days. They play them away on Tuesday before they host the Suffolk side in nine days.

He said: "I was not at the game when we lost 4-1 to Sudbury in a cup game but was told we under-performed.

"These are two big games against Sudbury and I want four points at the very least from them."

"Waltham may be bottom but were leading 3-1 against Sudbury recently before they conceded two late goals."

Right-back Robbie Martin (thigh problem) is ruled out for the Forest game while striker Leon Antoine (hamstring injury) is rated as 50-50.

In their last game, Harlow lost to Dereham from virtually the last kick of the match on Saturday.

Junior Dadson had equalised for the Hawks in stoppage time and thought he had secured a deserved point for the visitors after a second half in which they dominated.

However, the late, late strike by Adam Smith was a hammer blow to Chapman's men.

Fellow promotion-chasers Dereham had led 1-0 at the break and were on top for much of the half.

They scored after only five minutes when a shot came back off the Harlow bar and was stabbed in by Ryan Hawkins from close range.

Chapman added: "We work hard on free-kicks but we did not mark well or react well after the ball hit the bar for the first goal."

"Just when we thought we had got a point, we lost concentration for their second goal."

Players from Belgium and beyond in HTLC event

HARLOW Lawn Tennis Club hosted a week long LTA regional grade three singles tournament during the half-term holiday with more than 240 youngsters from all over the country taking part.

Players travelled from as far as Scotland, Wales, Cornwall and Belgium capital Brussels to take part in the event which had entries across seven age groups from U-8 to U-18 with boys and girls categories.

The event started with an U-8 mixed mini tennis red tournament and U-9 girls mini tennis orange event, with approximately 150 matches played on the first day.

Harlow's Oliver Brooker came close in the mixed red event, losing a tense and close semi-final by 12 points to 10.

One of the most exciting events of the week was the U-18 boys singles, which saw Harlow's Ben Miller defeat the higher second seed Sam Bayda with a superb display of all court tennis.

Ben went on to reach the final where he faced Peter Odegbami in what was the match of the whole tournament.

Both Peter and Ben raised their games to a consistent high level of play that kept the many spectators on the edge of their seats, with the former finally winning 6-3 7-6.

The tournament ended with a high quality U-9 boys mini tennis orange singles event with a further 80 matches taking place.

Harlow's Ralph Bartlett made it to the final, taking on Dhruv Velani, the No.1 seed, which saw some excellent high quality rallies with Dhruv eventually winning 7-5 7-3, taking the total amount of matches played during the week close to 500.

The event was sponsored by local businesses MBJSC Produce, from Nazeing, Harlow estate agent Howick & Brooker, Dapper Pets and Harlow Tennis Club members Christophe Guillard and Amy Calvert.

The tournament director and referee Will Calvert said the event had been a huge success and the level of tennis had been extremely high and thanked the sponsors, players and parents for their support.

● HARLOW Tennis club picked up an emphatic 13-3 win over Pleshey in the Essex Mixed League.

Darren Pagett and Karen Butler lost 6-2 and drew 6-6.

Richard Baxter and Hannah Bacon triumphed 6-2 6-1.

Pagett and Butler then won

6-0 6-2. Baxter and Bacon won 6-1 6-2.

Harlow's mixed team also secured an 8-8 draw against Stabbing.

Sheila Dalmasio and Richard Baxter won 6-2 6-4, while Jason Piggot and Katherine-Harding-Jones lost 1-6 1-6 and 3-6 1-6.

Late call off for Hawks

HARLOW Town's match at Tilbury in Ryman League division one north was called off only 75 minutes before it was due to start on Tuesday.

The referee called it off at 6.30pm, by which stage all the Harlow squad had arrived at the ground.

This decision was made after a local ref had made an inspection at 4pm and deemed the pitch playable.

Hawks secretary Ray Dyer said: "A lot of the pitch was not too bad but there was an area by the dug-out that was heavily sanded.

"If a player's foot had landed in that area, it could be stuck and this area was deemed to be dangerous."

He added: "The local ref described it as 50/50 but said the game could go ahead. It is one of those things."

No date has been agreed for the rearranged fixture.

The Hawks are next in action at Waltham Forest this Saturday and visit AFC Sudbury on Tuesday.

'Put Harlow back at heart of GB cycling'

FORMER Great Britain cyclist Vin Denson – the first Brit to be a Tour de France section winner back in the 1960s – is spearheading a campaign which he hopes will once again put Harlow at the heart of British cycling.

Denson, who lives on the outskirts of Harlow at High Laver, watched with disappointment as the velodrome that he played a part in acquiring in Harlow in the 1970s, was laid to waste and sold off as the popularity of the sport diminished.

But with the likes of Harlow-born Laura Trott, Sir Bradley Wiggins, Chris Froome and Chris Boardman leading a revival in the sport, he hopes the town could once again become home to a cycle club – and hopes members could use the state-of-the-art velodrome at the Olympic site in Stratford to practice and compete.

Denson was the first Brit to win a section of the world-famous Tour de France in 1962.

One of the greatest British cyclists of all time, Chester-born Denson has lived in the Harlow area for more than five decades. He previously won the Tour de Luxembourg and was the first Englishman to win a sector in the Tour de Italia.

Now rapidly approaching his 80th birthday, he is in love with the sport as much as when he first took it up in the 1950s.

The sport in Harlow has remained popular despite the break up of the old Harlow Cycling Club, of which Denson was a vice-president, with cycle lanes built by Harlow Council throughout the town to encourage commuters to ditch their cars and cycle to work.

GREAT HOPE: Former GB cycling legend Vin Denson with Tommy Simpson's Tour de France yellow jersey (Pic: Vikki Lince)

Denson recalls fondly his part in erecting the original velodrome in First Avenue, as Harlow became the place to be for the best cyclists from the region.

"From the end of 1969 until the mid-1970s others and myself formed a committee, raised funds and built a velodrome in First Avenue. Once the track was built I left to concentrate on coaching a road team in the Redbridge Cycling Club.

"However, with the Olympic Stratford velodrome, being only 30 minutes down the M11 motorway, we have a great velodrome just down the road, and do not need an expensive track in Harlow.

"Harlow would once again have a strong team, this time at the velodrome at Stratford, and ensure Harlow is part of the 2012 Olympic legacy.

"Our Harlow youth need this, and I am confident we can at least reach the Harlow track teams we had in the seventies and eighties, with British National Champions and many more enjoying the track involvement, and the health and fitness to be gained," Denson explained.

"This would require a general organiser, a main sponsor or individual sponsors, remembering that with a year or so we could promote or have another Laura and Emma Trott, or quality of sprinters in the form of Dave Le Grys, Dave Marsh or Nicki Harris in Harlow – we could again be a strong force in Britain, or even the world.

"I would imagine several clubs, Lea Valley CC and Redbridge CC, would have to plan sections of the back-up team, and it would be organised for riders to be out on the roads and cycle tracks of Harlow."

Denson has known Olympic double gold champion Laura Trott since she was a teenager.

Denson added: "I was asked to present to Laura her very first British Cycling National Championship when she was 16 years old at the Mildenhall Rally 600m grass track, the same place I had presented Victoria Pendleton with her first GB title 11 years earlier."

He plans to approach Trott in the hope she can boost a project to reform Harlow CC.

Denson still recalls with sadness the 1967 Tour de France, which claimed the life of his Great Britain team-mate Tommy Simpson.

Professionally he never recovered from this heart-break – he still owns the yellow jersey won by Simpson as the first ever British winner of the race – and Denson turned his attention to building the Harlow velodrome in 1969, after being approached.

His final legacy is to once again make Harlow the centre of top British cycling. If you are interested in helping reform Harlow CC, contact Denson via email at vin-densonardbeck@yahoo.co.uk

Controversial late penalty try has Rams over a barrel

THE Rams put up a brave fight as they went down 15-8 against title-chasing Old Cooperians in the RFU London division three north east on Saturday.

The home side took the lead with an early try and extended this to eight points with a penalty, a margin they held on to until half-time.

Harlow started the second half with a one man advantage; a Cooperians player having been yellow carded in the last minute of the first half for not rolling away from the ball.

They took good advantage of this. They moved the ball wide on the left and a good break by Jamie Fricker allowed them to play across the pitch for Mark Twiner to go over for a try. The conversion was missed (8-5).

With seven minutes left, Michael Dobson slotted a penalty to level the scores and as the clock ran down, a draw looked certain.

Then with two minutes to go Cooperians broke through the Harlow defence. Rob Mackie, in trying to intercept the final pass, was judged to have deliberately knocked forward. The referee awarded a penalty try giving Cooperians the match 15-8.

Harlow are seventh in the 12-team table. HARLOW: Ephgrave, M. Bowering (Stonehouse 55), Cunningham, Twiner, Unwin, Eynon (Roberts 50), Drake, Claridge, McGlone, Dobson, Grimley, Heapy (L. Bowering 60), Fricker, Knightley, Mackie.
